LIBRARIES SUPPORT CITIZENS IN THE CHALLENGES THAT COME WITH HARD WORK

The tools and information professionals of our public libraries are already focused on the needs of business, workforce training and lifelong learning. And, unlike many business assistance programs, access simply requires a library card to gain a team with a strong network of contacts in competitor intelligence, market analysis, grant writing, marketing, and mentors, and a team with a strong network of contacts in on-line education, both public and private, various cutting edge learning tools for all types of learners, and deep understanding of 21st century skills essential to every kind of successful job seeker and business today.

LIBRARIES ARE THE MODEL OF CONNECTION

Nevada's public libraries provide the 21st-century tools necessary for teaching and doing, and help connect our community's educators and business people. This results in employers and teachers with better understanding of workforce and education demands. With that understanding comes a clear view of what our community needs to do in order to compete. Special focus is on those businesses that offer primary jobs in Nevada, especially in Science Technology Engineering Arts Mathematics (S.T.E.A.M.) fields to provide opportunities for our youth to compete for well-paying jobs.
